SALT LAKE MAN GETS RICH QUICK.

David Evans, Attorney and Mining Man, Makes $150,000 in Forty-Eight Hours.

NEW VENICE THE MACIC SPOT.

George F. Felt Tells of its Wonders and Of Utah People on the Coast-What Don Porter Says,

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Felt and caughter Ether have just returned from a three weeks' trip to the coast. Mr. Felt reports quite a colony of Salt Lake people located at Long Beach, Henry Dinwoodey and wife, Mrs. R. P. Morris, Mrs. Will Dinwoodey and two children, Mrs. Jos A. Jennings, Mrs. Wright, Miss Thomasson, Miss Foster, J. G. Kimball wife and family, Judge T. D. Lewis and family, Mrs. Emma Ellerbeck and daughter, W. C. Spence, wife and two children, Mrs. Corey, Mrs. Carr. Don C. Porter and wife and others. A visit to Ocean Beach, New Ven-ice and other beach resorts discloses a wonderfud activity in a business way. David Evans of Salt Lake bought a tract of land, platted it and within 48 hours the property had been disposed of at a profit of $150,000. He is now building a handsome hotel at Venice, and promises soon to be one of the leading business men of the coast.

A BURSTED BOOM.

Mr. Felt also says that at Redondo. where the boom found it way a short time ago, those who were induced to buy options are already wishing they had never been born. An instance is recited where a woman had received the the state of the state of the main-tenance of her children. She dropped it into options and at their expiration, begged the agent to help her out as she had nothing the support the children on. Boys, even, bought with other peo-ble's money and were "caught out." Salt Lake is ever before the eyes of the traveling public on account of the terminal station and the several known Salt Lake names, such as the Salt Lake Transfer Co., West Temple and Temple Block, Salt Lake Store, etc., etc. The Clark road has done a wonderful busi-ness since its opening and is bound to ness since its opening and is bound to increase as soon as fully prepared for it. It is said that the road can already pay a handsome dividend above all operating expenses. It is also said that the run from Salt Lake to Los Angeles can be made easily in 24 hours as soon as the road hed is settled.

soon as the road bed is settled. WHAT DON PORTER SAYS.

Don H. Porter has been looking over Don H. Forter has been looking over 'The Venice of America,' 'the typical Venetian city that has been built a dozen miles out toward the ocean shore from Los Angeles, and is convinced that it's destined to be a tremendously successful enterprise. The new Venice is modeled after the original article on the shores of the Adraitic, with canals mning in from the ocean and houses built right along the same, and gon-lolas in use on the canals. The scheme sattracting a good deal of attention all over the country. Mr. Porter says there are so many Salt Lake people in southalifornia that they are met with erywhere; it makes the country seem

WORLD'S CHAMPION WAS BADLY BEATEN

W. E. Samuelson of Provo Defeated Iver Lawson in Their Matca Race.

TOOK TWO STRAIGHT HEATS

Several Riders Went on a Strike in the Last Race Because Samuelson Wanted to Ride.

The events pulled off at the saucer last evening will be remembered for a long time by the large crowd of cycle enthu-siasts that jammed into the seats and overflowed into the arena. The crowd was one of the largest and most enthusiastic of the season. The weather was delightful, and the music was decidedly good. The spectators saw some fast riding in both the professional and amateur classes, and they saw Iver Lawson, hall-ed as champion of the world, beaten, and seaten decisively, by W. E. Samuelson of Provo. Iver was beaten at his own game, and in the second heat of the event, when Iver was leading and Samuelson rushed by him, Lawson simply quit.

SAMUELSON LAWSON'S MASTER. In a slow race, that is, riding the eastern style where riders ride slowly to jockey for position and then sprint the last quarter, the probabilities are that Lawson would beat the Provo boy, although the latter does not believe it, but in the kind of racing we are used to, and the only kind Salt Lakers like to see, Samuelson has Lawson beaten to a pulp. There's nothing to it but the "Human Motor."

Motor."

In the first heat, Samuelson led all the way, Iver did not attempt to go by him until the last quarter of a lap when he made a rush for the tape. Samuelson heard him coming, and showed the champion that there was still something to overcome. Samuelson let out an extra kick or two and finished first by half a wheel. Lawson had the best position but was unable to go around.

BOTH GUILTY OF FOULS. BOTH GUILTY OF FOULS.

In the second heat two fouls were committed, and in the opinion of many the riders should have been compelled to ride it over. In the start for pace, Lawson deliberately cut down low on Samuelson, and for a second it looked as if there would be a bad mixup. Lawson took the pace with Samuelson hugging him tightly. On the sixth lap Lawson tried his famous jump, but Bill was right there too. On the seventh lap, with Iver leading by a couple of lengths, Samuelson came up with a brilliant burst of speed and cut Iver to the pole. He made the latter look as if he were after first money in a slow race. Samuelson finished about half a lap to the good. Iver quit.

Cawson Leaves Tonight.

Of course there was much discussion over the result, and friends of both riders had a wordy war defending their favorite. The statement that Lawson was not in good condition, while undoubtedly true, meets with little favor among the race goers. The match was made by Manager Heagren in pienty of time for Lawson to prepare for it. He accepted the terms and was apparently confident of an easy victory, especially in view of the challenges he has been hurling around of late that he would beat any three men on the track, etc. Samuelson said nothing. He went onto the track to ride and win if possible. If Lawson was not in good condition that was his own fault. He was beaten at his own game. The "dope" book says Samuelson can not do it, but the fact is that he did it decisively and is sentitled to all the credit that should go to the "given" with a continuous contents. LAWSON LEAVES TONIGHT. Washington ly and is entitled to all the credit should go to the winner of such a

Lawson announced his intention of leaving for New York this evening. RIDERS WENT ON A STRIKE.

RIDERS WENT ON A STRIKE.

There was a fuss among the riders in the last event, the three mile lap professional, because Samuelson wanted to ride. The race was an open one, but the riders understood that Samuelson would not be permitted to ride. The latter asked the clerk of the course if he could ride and was informed that he could not. Samuelson went to Referee Frank Gardner and asked about it. The referee said that "Sam" could ride. Then fourteen riders quit; in other words they went on a strike. The crowd was with Samuelson and shrieked their approval of his course and urged him to ride. Riders and officials wrangled and read rules galore for awhile, but the whole matter was finally settled by wise little Harry Heagren. He told Samuelson to ride for a $50 purse, but he was not to receive any lap money. Of course "Sam" won the race but did not get first money. He got the $50 while Hardy Downing, who was second, was given first purse money. And there you are. In the opinion of a great many. Heagren should not have given in to the riders, but he did and the race went off nicely. All things considered, the people got more than their money's worth. The meet was certainly a zood one.

The summary follows:

Half-mile amateur, final.—Hume, Wilcox, Marty, Time—1:03 1-5.

Two-mile lan tandem race, amateur—Wilcox and McCormack, West and Castro, Redman and Hume, Goerke and Marty, Time—3:54.
